Welcome to the West Coast

West Coast

Palm-fringed beaches, icy glaciers, historic places and everything in between ... the West Coast stretches 600 km from Kahurangi Point in the north to Awarua Point in the south, but never more than about 50 km across between the Tasman Sea and the Southern Alps.

We're New Zealand's third largest region but more like a series of regions and districts, each with their own unique landscape, distinct climate, attractions and stories.

Discovering our treasures will take a while. Millions of years went into forming this land — good things take time so be prepared to stay longer!

Denniston Plateau Historic Area

Westport, New Zealand

Once a leading coal mining town, Denniston sits high on a steep incline railway once described as the eight wonder of the world. Spectacular scenery, incredible history, a West Coast must see.

Denniston was a hub for coal mining, where families lived in extreme conditions. Denniston offers magnificent views down to the coastal plains of the Karamea Bight and the mouth of the Waimangaroa River. It sits 518 metres above sea level and originally only had one access: the 1,670 metre incline railway. The railway used gravity to transport coal wagons between 1880 - 1967.

The high-grade coal was worth the hardship, with unsurpassable clean qualities that supplied even the British fleets. The 100-year-long production that was the plateau can still be seen in the Cornish stonemasonry, the town loop tracks and the walkable 2.5km coal transportation rope road linking Coalbrookdale to the Brakehead.

Pancake Rocks & Blowholes Walk

Pancake Rocks Cafe, Coast Road, Punakaiki 4300, New Zealand

Explore a limestone landscape of pancake-shaped rock formations, blowholes and surge pools on this short, paved walk that's great for families.

Distance: 1.1km

Duration: 20/30 min loop.

This is an all-weather walk around the curious limestone formations of pancake rocks and blowholes. With the exception of an optional short section with steps, the walk is suitable for wheelchairs (with assistance).

Blowholes form from a mixture of compressed water and air escaping through the caverns below and being forced upwards, creating a huge wall of spray. They are at their best around high tide when there is a south-westerly swell.

Spectacular views, geological oddities, coastal forest, rich birdlife and marine mammals are highlights along this walk.
